Good City Music recording artist Cheno Lyfe recently has been gearing up to release his sophomore album ‘LUNAR’. He premiered one of the songs from the upcoming record at Flavor Fest 2012. According to information leaked online, artists like Rhema Soul, DawnChere' Wilkerson, Social Club, Bless’Ed, Dream Hodges, Rey King and more are expected to be featured on the project.

If you’re unfamiliar with the Miami based emcee, he has collaborated with the likes of Group One Crew, Rhema Soul, D-Maub, K-Drama, Social Club and more. In 2010 he dropped a well-received project entitled ‘HOME’. ‘HOME’ debuted and remained #1 for months on many online retail stores.

The album cover for ‘HOME’ was designed by Angel “DJ Soundwav” Acevedo and is one of the most popular covers ever released in CHH. Acevedo will be putting his creative touch on 'LUNAR' as well.

Cheno Lyfe has been off the scene for a while because he has been serving at his church full time and working on graduating from SUM Biblical College and Theological Seminary. Cheno has been the brains behind a few nationally recognized projects and has toured relentlessly with the Good City Music collective over the last few years. He plans on maintaining the momentum he has built with his consistent traveling by delivering more quality music in the form of 'LUNAR'.

More details on ‘LUNAR’ coming soon. Who would you like to see featured on it?
